

Different perspektiv on the same material

- The students are asked to take on different perspektives
- An issue is studied from that perspektive
- The student gather fact-based arguments (preferrably together with others that has been given the same perspektive)
- New groups form where the students present their view on the issue from their perspektive
- The groups try to come up with a solution that are acceptable to everyone as far as possible

